

Transport and Logistics

Hawsons has a dedicated team of specialist transport and logistics accountants in Sheffield, Doncaster and Northampton.

We act for a large number of clients in the transport and logistics sector across our three offices, ranging from hauliers to international couriers, and understand the challenges this dynamic sector faces. Nearly every other commercial sector is reliant on the services transport and logistic businesses provide and, in many ways, this specialist sector is the linchpin for our country's economy – it plays an essential role in our economy's growth.

Our transport and logistics accountants are able to assist our clients in adding value to their businesses, including advising on the financial and taxation consequences of capital investment, using employment benefits to retain key members of staff and providing strategic business advice.

About Hawsons

Hawsons is one of the longest standing firms of independent chartered accountants in England and recently celebrated 160 years of providing expert advice to businesses of all types and sizes.

Hawsons Chartered Accountants was founded in Sheffield in 1854 – more than 25 years before the creation of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales – by Alfred Allott and John Hewett. The firm has since grown to become one of the UK's leading independent accounting practices, with a team of nearly 100 people across three UK offices, in Sheffield, Northampton and Doncaster.
